

NEAS Three Priorities:

Guaranteeing a high quality public education for every student.

RACIAL JUSTICE

Every public school has the resources and opportunities that our best public schools have, including culturally responsive instruction and professional development.

Ensuring that public education is student-centered and educator-led.

ESSA

STUDENTS

Ensuring that all students have access to highly qualified and empowered educators.

The voice of all educators—teachers, ESP, faculty and staff—will be part of the decision-making to help students succeed.

EARLY CAREER EDUCATORS

My name is Cameo Kendrick. I was born and raised in the beautiful state of Kentucky, where I now attend the University of Kentucky in pursuit of a degree in middle school education with a focus in English and History. I am a non-traditional student as well as a mother of two beautiful girls. I strive each day to be the best possible woman I can be and to be their hero. I am blessed to of been elected in 2017-18 to serve my college chaptee as the Historian, as the Ethnic Minority Chair on the of Kentucky Aspiring Educators Program as well as the student voice on the Kentucky Education Associations Board of Directors. I have a passion for being a vessel through which those with smaller voices can speak up and stand out. I have a daily mission to empower and strengthen all fellow educators around me, and help to change and improve this wonderful profession. All of this is made possible through this association and the family of inspired educators that is created within it.
