Impact of Declining Revenues on Higher Education From 1991-2016

State Appropriations and Tuition

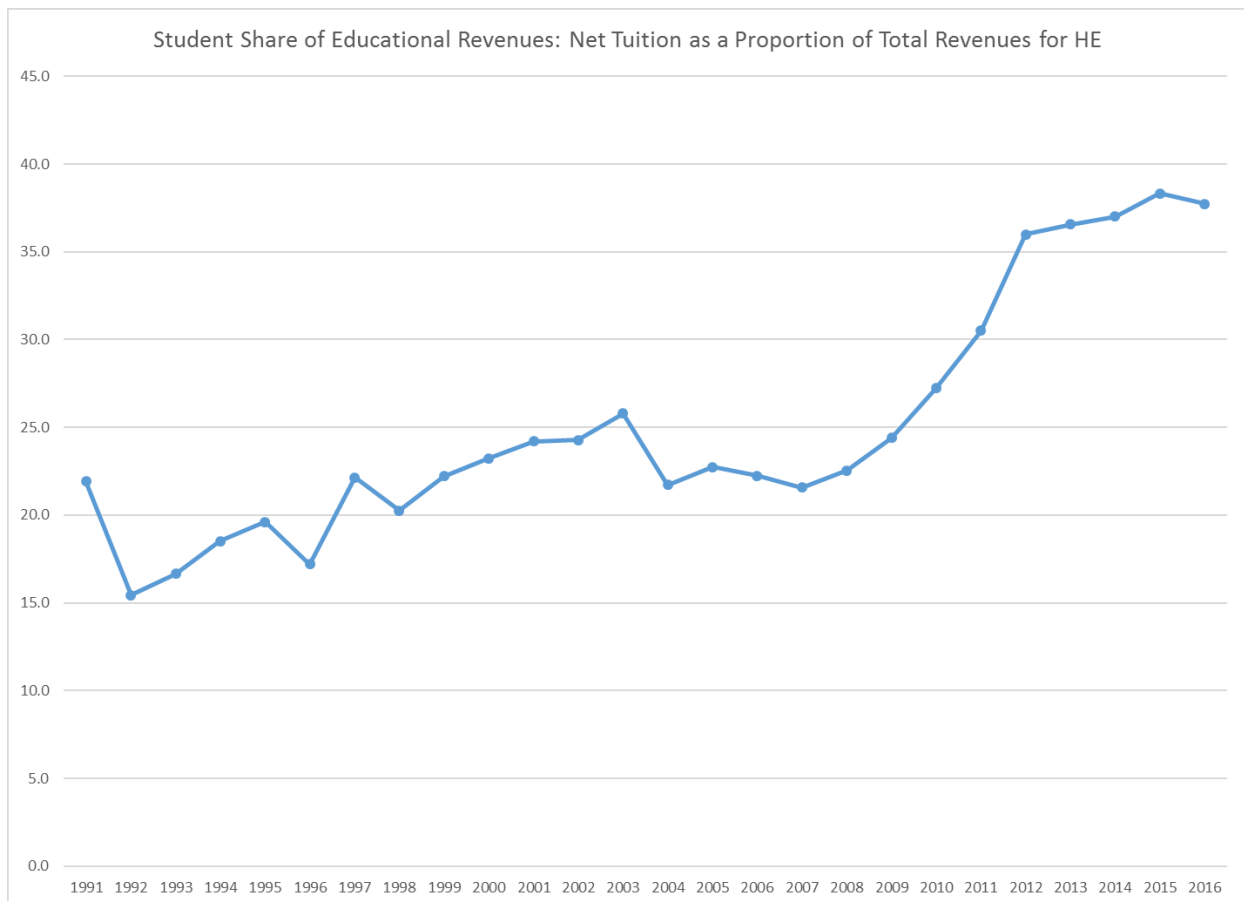

NOTES: Data adjusted for inflation using the Higher Education Cost Adjustment (HECA). Full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment equates student credit hours to full-time, academic year students, but excludes medical students. Educational appropriations are a measure of state and local support available for public higher education operating expenses including ARRA funds, and exclude appropriations for independent institutions, financial aid for students attending independent institutions, research, hospitals, and medical education. Net tuition revenue is calculated by taking the gross amount of tuition and fees, less state and institutional financial aid, tuition waivers or discounts, and medical student tuition and fees. Net tuition revenue used for capital debt service is included in the net tuition revenue figures above.

Since 1991, the cost for education in Nevada has fallen slightly. However, like all states, Nevada has increasingly shifted the burden for that cost more the student in increased tuition. Tuition has increased by 62% since 1991 ($2,540 to $4,135). However, the state’s share of the cost has fallen. In 1991, the state appropriated 78.1% ($9,046) of the costs, but in 2016, it only appropriated 37.7% ($6,822) of that cost. This represents a decrease of 25%.
