State Appropriations and Tuition

NOTES: Data adjusted for inflation using the Higher Education Cost Adjustment (HECA). Full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment equates student credit hours to full-time, academic year students, but excludes medical students. Educational appropriations are a measure of state and local support available for public higher education operating expenses including ARRA funds, and exclude appropriations for independent institutions, financial aid for students attending independent institutions, research, hospitals, and medical education. Net tuition revenue is calculated by taking the gross amount of tuition and fees, less state and institutional financial aid, tuition waivers or discounts, and medical student tuition and fees. Net tuition revenue used for capital debt service is included in the net tuition revenue figures above.

Since 1991, the state of Utah's cost for higher education has risen, but the state's support for that cost has fallen. In 1991, the state provided 75% toward the cost of education. Students only provided 25% in the form of tuition. However, by 2016, the burden for that cost is almost even. The state covers only 53.5% while student tuition covers 46.5%.
